Global change starts with you. Yes, you

Okay, so maybe changing the world is a little ambitious. But with the right combination of creativity, passion, and skill, you can make a serious impact. Imagine Cup 2012 is all about using technology to tackle some of the world's toughest problems. And the reward? Well, in addition to helping people around the globe, you could land the perfect internship or job after you graduate.

Pick from 2 Main Categories

Software Design
Real applications for the real world. Here's your mission (if you choose to accept it). Create real-world software applications using Microsoft technologies. Just remember, they must address the Imagine Cup 2012 theme: Imagine a world where technology helps solve the toughest problems.

Game Design
Become the ultimate superhero. Who says saving the world can't be fun? First of all, it's thrilling to make a difference. And with the power of gaming, people can have fun while fighting global issues. Build a full game from scratch. And make it something truly unique. Think of this competition as an important step in your budding career as a game developer or an entrepreneur in the game business.
